

NEW YORK POST

January 10, 2013

NYP Real Estate Guide Home

Gimme shelter

By JENNIFER GOULD KEIL

Heard any great gossip? E-mail: jkeil@nypost.com

Hoop dream home

Washington Wizards big man Emeka Okafor has snagged himself an oversized Upper West Side apartment for $5.82 million.

The four-bedroom, 4½-bathroom condo in the Apple Bank Building at 2112 Broadway, where Harry Belafonte also owns a unit, is more than 3,100 square feet. Okafor, who bought the apartment under a LLC named Draftpad, owns multiple homes and, we hear, purchased this one for his wife and children to use.

The building is a condo conversion of an old bank structure that dates back to 1928.

APPLE OF HIS EYE:
Okafor buys big condo.

Getty Images

There's no basketball court, but the building is home to the Baseball Center, where Upper West

Side parents with dreams of the big leagues pay $110 an hour for their kids to bat with a coach.

Broker Frances Katzen of Douglas Elliman declined to comment.