

NEW YORK POST

May 2, 2013

Occupy Fifth Ave.

Now, here's an apartment for the 1 percenters!

Real estate mogul John Zuccotti — the namesake of Zuccotti Park, where Occupy Wall Street protestors camped out — has just bought fancy new digs at 1049 Fifth Ave., near the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Sources say Zuccotti, the co-chairman of Brookfield Office Properties, bought the three-bedroom, 2½-bathroom condo for $2.57 million. It was last listed for $2.69 million, down from last year's $2.99 million asking price. The seller, Amine Soussane, is an investor based in Morocco.

The 1,600-square-foot unit comes with a chef's kitchen and a spa-like bath in a white-glove building that once housed Rush Limbaugh as well as Tommy Mottola and Mariah Carey.

Listing broker Carol Staab of Douglas Elliman declined to comment.