Atoosa Rubenstein, the founder and former editor of CosmoGirl and Seventeen and who is known as “Alpha Kitty,” is now having two more “kitties” of her own. Page Six has learned that Rubenstein is currently pregnant with twin girls. So Rubenstein and her family are moving into a bigger space on the Upper East Side. They’re selling their sprawling three-bedroom, three-bathroom Flatiron loft for just under $4 million through Noble Black. Tehran-born Rubenstein, married to Ari Rubenstein, the founder and Managing Partner of Global Trading Systems LLC, already has a daughter, Angelika McQueen, born in 2008.
